

Hempstead Golf & Country Club

Assistant Superintendent

Hempstead Golf & Country Club is a privately owned club located in south central Nassau County, Long Island. The original nine holes were designed by Peter Lees in 1921. In 1923 the course was significantly altered by A.W. Tillinghast, who carved out nine new holes from the woods, added bunkers to and re-routed all eighteen holes. The clubhouse and property date back to 1756 and were occupied by the Tories during the revolution. Hempstead is an active family club with amenities that include a par 72 course playing 6700 + from the back tees, short game area, tennis courts, full pool complex, paddle courts, fitness center and a bowling alley. The club has a long history of hosting local tournaments and received the 2022 Metropolitan Golf Writers Association's "Club of The Year" award. A new state of the art Toro Lynx two wire system with all HDPE pipe is scheduled for installation in late Summer 2023. A sand trap renovation project is in the planning stages.
